Abduction Of Woman By 3 Men Is Foiled

Madison Policeman
Hears Screams While
Cruising Near Scene

An attempt by three St. Louis Negroes to abduct a Madison woman and force her into their car in the 1200 block of Madison avenue was interrupted late Friday night by a Madison police officer who later captured the men at gunpoint.

Taken to the Madison city jail were John L. Thompson, 19, Michael James Parra, 18, and Danny Marshall, 19. Police said Marshall currently is charged with assault and the other two are charged with battery.

Parra posted $300 cash bond and Marshall $200 to obtain release. Thompson's bond was set at $300 cash.

K-9 Patrolman Ronald Graywacz came to the woman's aid when he heard screams while he was cruising in the 1400 block of Madison avenue. He said he drove to the 1200 block of Madison avenue, where he saw a youth dragging the woman, a Grand avenue resident, to a parked auto.

As he pulled to a stop, Graywacz related, another youth jumped out of the parked car to help his companion force the woman into the rear seat of the auto.

The officer said he jumped from his car with a double-barrel shotgun and ordered the men to release the woman.

Attackers Flee Scene
The two youths threw the woman to the ground, jumped in their car and ignored the officer's demands to halt. They sped away at a high rate of speed, Graywacz said. He radioed another Madison police car, reported the direction of the fleeing car and then gave chase.

Graywacz reported that the fleeing car went south on Madison avenue, turned right on Tenth street and ran the stop sign at Tenth street and Grand avenue. In the 1200 block of Grand avenue, the officer said, the car pulled to the curb.

The trio leaped from the car apparently to flee on foot, but Graywacz arrived and told them not to run or he would turn his police dog, Sgt. Kelly, loose. He covered the men with a shotgun, but they started advancing toward him.

Graywacz said one of the men

$11,300 Fire at Church Education Building Friday

Fire destroyed the Grace Baptist Church educational building, 2601 Edwards street, Friday.

The original blaze at 1:30 p.m. was attributed to electrical wiring, and firemen were called back at 4 p.m. and 7:40 p.m. when walls again ignited. They were at the scene a total of four and a half hours.

The two-story frame siding-covered structure was valued at $11,000, and contents were listed as worth $500. Damage estimates included all $11,000 value of the building and $300 of the furnishings.

The aerial truck and two pumper trucks were used by the fire department in fighting the blaze.

The ruling was handed down by Associate Judges Michael Kinney and Fred Schuman and Circuit Judge Joseph Barr after hearing statements by attorneys for the city of Madison and the candidates on objections to the procedure by which the candidates filed their nominating petitions on Feb. 10. No witnesses were called to testify.

The three judges who comprised the electoral board in place of Madison city officials who are candidates on an incumbent ticket and therefore ineligible to run, ruled unanimously that the seven candidates who filed under the party heading of the "People's Progressive Party" actually circulated individual sets of petitions which did not include proper affidavits and petition forms for creation of a new political party.

Will Certify Order
Judge Kinney, chairman of the board, announced that Madison City Clerk John Bellotti will be ordered to list the candidates on the April 15 election ballot as independent candidates instead of candidates under a party heading.

Those who sought to file as a party ticket included Steve G. Kaman for mayor, George S. Burdell for treasurer, Thomas E. Watson for city clerk, and Harold Ballentine, Jr., Richard L. Kisman, Sam Chomko and Ronald M. Gushel as candidates for aldermen in wards one through four, respectively. The group did not include a candidate for city auditor.

Chief of Police John Essington reported to the council that his department made 23 arrests during January, from which the city received $897 in fines from cases handled in circuit court.

Chief Essington reported that eight of the arrests were for traffic violations and five were made for violations of city ordinances. Three of those booked were released without charges. Two other prisoners were released to federal agents and two were released to Madison. Other arrests were of a miscellaneous nature.

Delay Contract Award
The council delayed until its March 7 meeting the awarding of a contract for remodeling the front of the Venice fire hall to accommodate larger fire trucks.

One offer has been submitted and city officials are waiting on another, the council was told. The work will include raising the height of the front door and eliminating a center column that prevents maneuvering the larger equipment.

Also delayed until the next meeting was action on a contract with the Leo Daly Contracting Associates of St. Louis to prepare engineering studies and a "workable program" for neighborhood renewal, under which the city hopes to replace deteriorated homes in Venice. A similar program is planned in Madison.

A contract presented to the council two weeks ago is to be revised to set out more specifically the work to be done by the planning firm. A federal grant will be sought for the joint Madison-Venice housing plan.

Madison 'Party' Filings Refused

Seven candidates who sought to file as Madison city officials as members of a party ticket will be listed instead as independent candidates on the April 15 ballot, an electoral board ruled in a hearing Thursday afternoon.

Injuries were suffered by 17 persons in 29 traffic crashes occurring in and near the Quad-Cities over the weekend.

Daniel Wofford Jr., 18, of Rural Route One was injured seriously at 12:05 a.m. Sunday when his auto struck a concrete bridge support for Interstate 270 at the Route 3 interchange west of Mitchell.

State police said Wofford was alone in his 1969 auto which was described as a total wreck. The youth was traveling south at the time of the mishap.

He was taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Hospital to be treated for cuts to his face and abrasions to his right elbow, leg and ankle.

Auto Hits Sign, Pole
Adrian J. Rahn, Jr., 30, of 1412 Madison avenue was admitted to St. Elizabeth Hospital in critical condition after his auto, turning from Edwards street onto 14th street, hit a stop sign and an Illinois Power Co. utility pole at 11:25 p.m. Saturday.

A careless driving charge was filed against the motorist, and a tow truck removed the auto, which was damaged about the front and left rear.

Two injuries resulted from a collision at 1:55 p.m. Saturday. Mrs. Aileen Kelly, 37, of 2339 Grand avenue had slowed her southbound auto to turn from Fehling road onto State street. The rear of the vehicle was hit by the front of the auto of William C. Franklin, 45, of 2169 Orville avenue, who reported that the carburetor of his car had stuck.

Mrs. Kelly was treated at St. Elizabeth Hospital for pains of the neck and back of the head. Also sustaining injuries was her passenger, Laura Kelly, seven years old, also of the 2339 Grand address. Franklin was charged with following too closely.

2 Hurt in Madison
Two persons sustained minor injuries in a two-car collision at Sixth street and McCormick bridge avenue, Madison, at 3:15 p.m. Saturday. Madison police said the mishap occurred when a car driven by Horace H. Rudy, 28, of 2216½ street, slowed for traffic and was struck from the rear by a car driven by Victor J. Pichon, 30, of 2408 Sunbury avenue. Both cars were headed north on McCormick bridge.

Police said Hardy was struck and thrown into the air, and Pichon was hurt in the accident.

Two women, both passengers in cars that collided at 12th street and Madison avenue, Madison, at 7:30 p.m. Saturday, suffered minor injuries in the crash.

Richard Buckingham, 21, of Cloverleaf addition, who was struck by Skoklo, never has been apprehended.

Skoklo is to report to the U.S. Marshal at Springfield March 7 to begin serving the four-month term.

The youths entered the church sanctuary by a side door then crawled through a small window into an area leading to the pastor's study, they reported. They cut a hole in the wooden door and entered the study and forced open the door on a metal cabinet. Nothing was reported missing.

State Budget Group Seeks Higher Tuitions
Increases in tuitions at state universities are being recommended by the Illinois Budgetary Commission for 1970. Recommended are minimum uniform tuitions of $20 for freshmen and sophomores, $360 for juniors and seniors and $600 for students enrolled beyond a master degree. Increases in out of state tuitions also would follow.

Through the increases, the commission notes, the state would save between $150 million and $225 million in general revenue expenditures. The State Board of Higher Education staff is objecting to the proposal, it was reported.

The budgetary commission also has proposed a cut back of 10% in freshman and sophomore enrollments next year as a result of an increase in the number of junior colleges in the state. The higher education board disputes this theory.

The Rev. J. Thomas Trece concelebrated the Mass, and with Rev. Martin Mangan, Rev. Bernard Labonte, Rev. John Manahan, Rev. Oliver Reagan, and Rev. Kevin Sullivan performed the nuptials.

A gown of English net applied across the bodice and skirt with Alencon lace and re-embroidered in seed pearls, was worn by the bride. Her headpiece, also trimmed in Alencon lace, secured the cathedral mantilla of English net edged with lace.

The bridesmaids Mrs. Yean Hauck of Alton, Miss Nancy Kellerher of Ferguson, Mo., and Mrs. Carol Klein of Carbondale, wore floor-length A-line gowns of red velvet and carried bouquets of white pom poms.

Mr. Trittschuh had his brothers, Fred and John Trittschuh, as best man and groomsmen, respectively. Others in the wedding party were Walter Klein, groomsmen, and Anthony Hauck and Donald Lambert, ushers.

Music for the ceremony was provided by Richard Witherow.

The bride's mother chose a three-piece pink suit, while the bridegroom's mother appeared in a lavender suit. Both had white carnation corsages.

After a brief honeymoon, the newlyweds will live in Glenview, Ill., at 1828 Waukegan avenue.

ALL IN A NIGHT'S WORK for Jeff Boyles (44) of the GCHS basketball team as the Warriors defeated Alton 85-84 here Friday night to earn undisputed possession of second place in the Southwestern Conference. Edwarsville already had clinched first place. Collinsville finished third and Alton fourth. In the picture at left, Boyles is sandwiched between two Alton players and finds the right foot of the Redbirds' Jeffries separating him from the ball.

Undisputed 2nd Place Is Warriors' Prize for 85-84 Victory Over Alton

The basketball Warriors edged Alton 85-84 here Friday night to finish second in the strong Southwestern Conference and then improved their impressive season record to 19-5 with an 88-61 verdict over Belleville Althoff here Saturday night.

GCHS ended its league play with a 9-3 record compared to 10-2 for champion Edwardsville, a 69-50 loser to East St. Louis Friday night. The Tigers are 19-3 overall.

Collinsville finished third at 8-4 by winning the same night, and the Alton Redbirds wound up fourth at 7-5; an Alton win at GCHS would have left all three teams tied for second place.

Other final Southwestern records were East St. Louis 4-4, Belleville West 3-9 and Wood River, 1-11.

Four Fouls on Simpson
GCHS trailed 26-19 and 43-39 after the first two periods and the outlook was bleak because Gary Simpson, top scorer with 580 points for the season, was only one foul away from being banished.

Simpson sat out the third quarter but teammates picked up the slack and earned a 64-58 lead entering the final period. But a hectic final minute remained.

"We came from six points down to move six points ahead on Alton mistakes and a sudden hot shooting streak," Coach Donald Detering related. "We came alive under the baskets and began to control the boards."

"But it is hard to keep Alton down. With seven seconds to go in the game we were ahead by five points when a floor violation cost us the ball. Alton scored and we again lost the ball, this time on a steal. Larry Hardman sank an 18-foot jump shot, but the buzzer sounded before anything else could happen."

VanBaskirk Effective
John VanBaskirk came through with his best game of the season, hitting many of his shots from the outside. Fourteen of his 24 points were scored in the last period, and he sank the go-ahead basket to make it 78-76 with three minutes left.

Simpson totaled 19, Steve Harris 17, Dave Melzer 13, Jeff Boyles nine, Rich Hutchings two and Roger Belche one. Earlier difficulty was attributed to being "a half-step out of position and a half-step late on our plays," leading to rebound and foul problems.

Scorers Saturday were Simpson 25, Melzer 15, VanBaskirk 14, Harris and Boyles eight each, Belche seven, Hutchings two and Rich Logan, one.

Near Scoring Record
Simpson's weekend output boosted his points to 624, within 14 of the record of 638 set by Rich Williams in 1960. GCHS had not won over 16 games in a season since 1960.

Outmatched physically by Althoff, GCHS made up for it with quickness and 35-of-72 marksmanship to the enemy 22-of-51. Althoff was 17 of 22 at the free throw line to top the Warriors' 10 of 20.

Quarter leads were 22-16, 38-22 and 50-38, with the Warriors holding the visitors to six second-quarter points. Outrebounded 31-20 on boards and cold in its third-period shooting, Granite City was sharp on defense throughout, consistently taking advantageous foul positions.

Illinois Park District Cage Tournament Here

The Granite City park district will host the third annual basketball district tournament Thursday and Friday for the Illinois Parks and Recreation Association.

Winners and second-place finishers from here will advance to State finals at Pekin starting March 8. Thursday's schedule for the eight-team tournament: Bowland at Prather; Clark Vikings vs.

TROJAN WARFARE on the Madison high school basketball court Friday recalled crucial sectional tournament games in past years with Belleville West. But the visitors' 67-54 win was only a non-conference victory. Trojans in the top scene, when the Maroons led 59-46 in the final quarter, are (left to right) Aonzo Watts (30), Dave Hutchinson and Jim Scott. The lower photograph shows a Belleville West player trying to block a Madison shot while Trojan Ed Hilton (52) eyes the basket for a possible rebound.

VHS 'Bench Strength' in 69-60 Victory

Coach Bill Ohlendorf tried something not used at Venice this basketball season when he pulled his entire starting lineup midway in the first period here Friday evening against Marquette. Venice won 69-60.

"I thought they were just standing around. So why let boys on the bench watch if starters aren't doing their job?"

The tactic worked. The Red Devils trailed 15-7 as the quarter ended but the starters then returned to action and tallied 24 points to trail by only 33-31 at the half. Venice led 51-47 after three periods.

"Neither team played well, but we managed to outshoot them," Ohlendorf related. "I was pleased with the way we played after the first period. We backed strong, and except for a 35-foot jump shot at the halftime buzzer, the score would have been tied."

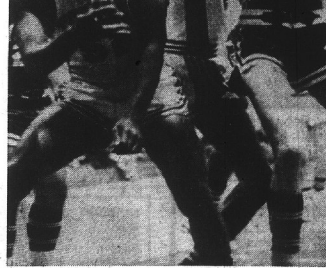

Visitor matched the visitors in rebounding, a rarity this year.

Pessor Gray, leading scorer, was limited to 15 points but Larry Mosby helped out with 22. Andrei Johnson scored 10, Doug Johnson six and Ronald Coleman, Marvis Hoult and Mark Duffley, two each.

Warrior Sophomores Edge Cahokia 65-61

The GCHS sophomore basketball team won a home game against Roxana Thursday evening, 65-61. The local squad will end its season tonight at 6 o'clock at home against Cahokia.

The Warriors led 21-18, 41-39 and 52-46 at the quarters. Scoring were Mike DeKuntz and Don Harris 17 each, Jim Moore 12, Eric Stuber nine, John Ireland six and Mike Wilson, four.

Trojan Basketball Lead Overcome By Maroons

The Madison Trojan basketball team saw its season record drop to 7-14 Friday evening in losing a non-conference game to the Belleville West Maroons here 67-54.

Coach Bob Page noted, "We were trying to use new floor patterns and get away from some of the past mistakes."

"Everything went as planned for the first few minutes, but when we gave two starters, a rest we fell behind."

At the end of the first quarter, the Trojans led 18-15, making their last four field goals after shots missed by the Maroons. But the Maroons took a 35-28 lead at the half and stretched it to 56-42 after the third quarter.

Fall 11 Points Behind

"In the second half, the referee failed to blow his whistle on the tipoff when we got the ball and we lost it on the second jump. Belleville took the ball and scored. When we got it back we had a traveling violation and Belleville took advantage to take an 11 point lead," Page recalled.

"From that point on we were never really in the game. The boys got nervous and shot hap-

Local Quintets, 760 Others Ready For 1969 State Tournament Series

A state basketball championship for Granite City, Madison or Venice high schools? The odds are great against any one team outlasting the other 762, but the honor came to GCHS three decades ago and will go to some Illinois quintet on Saturday evening, March 22, at the University of Illinois, Champaign.

All teams compete for the same title, differing from the practices of some states, which designate a variety of classes based on enrollment.

The enrollment factor is handled in Illinois by requiring smaller schools, such as Venice, to start state tournament play at the district level. Because basketball utilizes only five players at any one time, small schools have developed outstanding teams. But it is rare when one wins the state title, no doubt partly due to the extra test of stamina—competing for four weeks instead of three.

Chicago vs. 15 Downstate

As in the past, Chicago public high school teams will determine their own representative which is assured a berth in the "sweet 16" final level of competition.

Feeding into 15 sectional tournaments will be 60 regional meets, some of which will include district champions.

The 763 teams entered in 1969 include 53 in the Chicago phase and 710 downstate.

District play is set for tonight through Friday. Regionals will follow next week, March 3-7, and sectionals the following week, March 12-14.

Super Sectional Sites

Then, on Tuesday night, March 18, "super sectional" contests will be played at eight sites — Carbonate Central, Charleston, DeKalb, Evanston (Northwestern University), Hinsdale Central, Macomb Western, Normal (Illinois State University) and Peoria (Bradley University).

The eight teams winning that night will advance to the state tourney March 21-22 at Champaign. It will be "sudden death" until the state semifinals, when losers will then meet to decide third and fourth place.

Dupo district play this week pairs the host team, seeded No. 1, and Lovejoy (8), Venice (4) and Mascoutah (5), O'Fallon (2) and Belleville St. Henry's Prep (7), and Columbia (3) and Lebanon (6).

The winner at Dupo will go to the Cahokia regional — Assumption (1) vs. Lincoln (8), Belleville East (4) vs. the district survivor (5), East St. Louis (2) vs. Belleville Althoff (7), and Cahokia (3) vs. Belleville West (6).

GC-Roxana, Alton-Madison

At Wood River next week it will be Edwardsville (1) vs. Marquette of Alton (8), Collinsville (4) vs. Wood River (5), Granite City (2) vs. Roxana (7), and Alton (3) vs. Madison (6).

Last year, district play in this area took place at O'Fallon, with the Venice Red Devils notching their fourth successive district championship.

The first round saw Venice eliminate St. Henry's 89-51, Columbia edge Mascoutah 65-61, Dupo blast Lovejoy 73-47 and the host team overpower Lebanon 99-83.

In the semifinals, Venice romped past Columbia 98-77 and O'Fallon defeated Dupo 73-69. The title game went to Venice 77-54 over O'Fallon.

Maroons In Sweet 16

Advancing to regional play at Belleville Althoff, Venice bowed 62-55 to Cahokia. East St. Louis beat Assumption 76-70, Belleville West topped Belleville East 74-58 and Althoff nosed out Lincoln 61-59.

Later action at Althoff saw Cahokia trim East St. Louis 66-54 in overtime, Belleville West oust the host squad 60-49 and the Maroons then defeat Cahokia 64-41 for the title.

Granite City regional scores 3 years ago were: Collinsville 70, Marquette 46; GCHS 70, Madison 62; Alton 78, Roxana 62; Edwardsville 74, Wood River 43; Collinsville 68, GCHS 58; Edwardsville 73, Alton 70; and Edwardsville 69, Collinsville 61.

Belleville West got as far as the super-sectional before bowing to Effingham, 54-49. Evanson won the 1968 state championship, defeating Peoria Central, Chicago Crane Tech and then Galesburg for first place.

Although it stayed "alive" the longest of the local teams last year, Granite City finished with an overall record of 10 wins and 15 losses. Madison was 22-4 and Venice 23-6.

THE MADISON COUNTY SPORTSMAN

By DON HASTINGS
County Conservation Officer

With it being between hunting and fishing seasons, I thought this would be a good time to talk about a personal project I am starting, and I hope will demonstrate several personal conservation ideas.

I am in the process of purchasing a small tract of woods in Silver Creek bottom near Alhambra. It is entirely wooded, has 14 acres and includes a pond that has been there for some time. There are a variety of trees, predominated by the hickory tree.

There are quite a few large trees on the land with a few young trees coming on, but as a whole, the timber appears to be in pretty bad shape with a lot of dead and decaying trees and quite a bit of storm damage.

One of my first projects will be to get one of the state forestry people in and have him trained or purchased smaller plots of ground along the creeks or other rougher ground to insure a constant supply of wood for fuel and saw logs.

These areas were left entirely in timber just for this purpose and were retained through the years by the heirs. Thus, the reason when looking for a plot book for seeing the many small seemingly cut up pieces of various ownership, along the major creeks.

So I would like to see a number of these retained throughout the county either in private ownership of interested people or in public ownership, so that future generations may see a little bit of unwooded and natural woods. At the same time if a concentrated program of game habitat and propagation was carried on in these areas, as refuges, they would serve as incubation and raising centers from which game would migrate out into the surrounding farmlands.

It is going to be increasingly difficult to get landowners to use land suitable for farming as idle pieces for game habitat. These programs will have to be undertaken on government owned property or private property that has been dedicated to the purpose.

So, I hope to make a start on my own land and use it as a demonstration plot that interested persons can come and visit for ideas to be put throughout the county. My next move will be to get all the qualified free help I can from all the agencies.

In addition to the forestry people, I am contacting the county soil conservation agent, the fish biologist for the lake, and the Illinois Natural History Survey for plans for building various types of housing for animals and birds.

In this, I hope to furnish the material and plans to several Boy Scout troops who will build the houses as part of their conservation requirements.

I think it will be fun as well as informative and beneficial, and I will keep you informed as we go along. I would be very interested in talking to anyone who has any ideas or similar interest in this type of project.

MORE ABOUT Madison 'Party'

date for alderman of the Fifth Ward.

They are opposing a slate of incumbent candidates whose terms expire this year and who are seeking re-election on a party ticket designated as the "Citizens' Improvement Party."

The incumbent candidates include Mayor Stephen Maerz, City Treasurer Dennis Nicholas and City Clerk Belford, and Aldermen Robert Reeves, Benjamin L. Bosworth, Ray Kozick, Christ Costoff and Booker T. Walton in Wards One through Five in that order.

Following expiration of the Feb. 10 filing deadline, city officials noted that petitions filed by the opposition group did not include a petition form required for formation of a new political party, and that petitions of the candidates had been circulated individually without designations that they were members of a party group.

The form for designation of a new political party also sets out that a "complete" slate of candidates must be filed to form a party ticket.

On these grounds objections were filed to obtain a legal determination as to how the names of the candidates should be listed on the April 15 election ballot as a party ticket or as independent candidates.

Judge Gitchoff, city attorney, told the electoral board during Thursday's hearing that no attempt was being made to knock the candidates off the ballot, but that a ruling should be made as to how the ballot should be legally constituted.

During his statement before the board, Gitchoff waived argument on the issue of whether the list of candidates is required to make up a party ticket.

"The law on this point is confusing, and I, for one, can hardly believe that is actually the law," Gitchoff told the board. "I have read the statute and it can be interpreted in several ways."

Gitchoff said that it was obvious, however, that the petitions as filed by the opposition group of candidates did not fulfill requirements for constituting a new political party and that he believed the candidates therefore should be listed on the ballot as independent candidates.

"Should Have Been Told"
Attorney John Coppinger of Alton, representing the candidates, said he agreed with Gitchoff that the law concerning the filing of a full slate of candidates as a prerequisite to making up a party ticket "is confusing," but he said the candidates felt that they should have been informed by the city clerk at the time they filed nominating petitions that the petitions were not in order.

Judge Kinney interrupted at this point to comment: "There is no law requiring a city clerk to advise the candidates that they should have been informed by the city clerk at the time they filed nominating petitions that the petitions were not in order."

Coppinger sought to call several of the candidates as witnesses to testify as to their procedure in circulating and filing the petitions, but Judge Kinney said he believed the issues could be resolved on the face of the petitions themselves and that no outside testimony was necessary.

Family Living Course at Venice LTC Proving Beneficial

To help the student develop a new awareness of responsibility in areas of personal, family, social, employment and fiscal behavior is among five general objectives of the teaching staff at Venice Lincoln Technical Center and the primary goal of the Family Living course now being taught at the adult vocational school.

"It is our purpose to help the students gain new insight into their needs and the values vital for happy and healthy personality growth and to help them better meet the challenge of life and parenthood successfully," according to Miss Marie Brite, instructor in the Family Living course and a former home economics advisor and county agent for the universities of Illinois and Missouri Division of Extension Service.

In Family Living, Miss Brite pointed out, the enrollees can find opportunities to pursue new experiences in family relationships, physical and mental health, management, foods and clothing and fabrics.

Advance areas of the course include commercial food service and commercial fabric construction, both geared toward job opportunities in these fields. Home-making and Parenting are the main purpose of Family Living is preparing the student as a responsible homemaker and parent and not for commercial employment, Miss Brite commented, that two or three students enrolled in the clothing section of the program probably will finish the course with the ability to earn a living by sewing for others and in the alterations field.

All students in Family Living are women with families, the instructor explained.

Mental Patient Leaves Hospital, Cuts Wrist

An Alton State Hospital patient who said he escaped at 3:30 p.m. Friday reported slashing his left wrist twice at 10:30 p.m. Friday at Triangle Park in West Granite City. He then walked to St. Elizabeth Hospital for treatment. He was returned to Alton Saturday afternoon.

The man, had walked from the state hospital to a shopping center, where he purchased a package of razor blades. He then walked along a highway toward the Quad-Cities and attended a theater before going to the park.

Released on Bond

Carolyn Teresa Hanger, 21, of 2124 Delmar avenue, charged with forgery at 1:15 p.m. Wednesday when she attempted to cash a check at Kozak Market, 2600 Nameoki road, waived a preliminary hearing in magistrate's court and was released on a $10,000 recognizance bond at 4:30 p.m. Thursday.

Papers Break Downglass

A bundle of throw-away newspapers was thrown through the front storm door glass at the home of Robert Alsop, 1552 Garfield avenue, at 7:40 p.m. Friday.

Then we chose simple patterns and learned the basic cutting and sewing procedures. How to alter a pattern, make buttonholes and attach fasteners and decorative touches came later," she said.

In the morning foods session, ten adults are enrolled, Miss Brite said. Instruction in this area of the Family Living program includes preparing meals, menu planning, food selection and purchasing, preservation and storage, sanitation, table service, utensils, nutrition and comparison of foods and value at different price levels.

Four enrollees in the morning class also participate in the afternoon clothing session.

Practical Experience
Miss Brite pointed out that from the 16 students enrolled in clothing, three women had not sewn before starting the course and four had never tackled a garment, such as a dress. Within five months since the class began, all have completed one garment, several making three or four clothing items.

"We have one paying student, 38 years old, who really enjoys the class and is sewing up a storm," the instructor reported. Another student is making an Easter outfit for her young daughter which includes a coat, dress and matching hat, while two others are sewing 1700 m. Vogue patterns, described by Miss Brite as rather advanced and difficult.

"We started out discussing fabric — the quality, price range and factors in selection.

ly life are explored; citizenship and its benefits and demands are outlined; parent-child relationship and family crises are investigated and solutions discussed.

The total program is geared to help the student develop and mature; to help themselves and their families regardless of earlier environmental conditions and thus achieve responsible family lives, the instructor said.

Miss Brite came to the Venice-Lincoln Technical Center from Marion county, Ill., where she was employed several years as county home adviser for the University of Illinois Division of Extension Service. She had served as a home adviser for the University of Illinois from 1933 until last year.

She is a graduate of the University of Missouri, where she received a bachelor of science degree in home economics in 1940. She entered the University of Missouri Extension Service and served as assistant county agent-at-large and county home economics agent in Gasconade and Adair counties, Mo., before transferring to Illinois.

Miss Brite began teaching the Family Living course at the Venice vocational-technical center in mid-September. She said the entire course takes about 12 months to complete.

Most of the students are referred to the instructor by counselors in the Department of Public Aid, however, the class is open to other area residents.

Pruning Forsythia

The only season to prune Forsythia is late spring when flowering is just completed.

New growth is the key to beauty and satisfaction with Forsythia. Flower buds develop on this new growth during the late summer. While fall pruning cuts off most of the buds before they flower, spring pruning renews the shrub without spoiling the flowers.

Each spring cut out one large cane. The dark colored stems are most likely to be the oldest. When the shrub is very old, you may have to remove two or more to renew the shrub. Do not cut off or trim back the young shoots. Where limited space requires heavy pruning to maintain size, you are spoiling the beauty of forsythia and should consider replacing it with a smaller sized species.

Total pruning will renew this plant in two seasons. Cut the shrub to a stump immediately after bloom. Allow the new shoots to grow freely. A few flowers will occur the next spring, but it requires two seasons to reach the full beauty of this shrub.

Landscaping with Forsythia

Forsythia can read the mind of nature beautifully to signal the arrival of spring and a new season.

The blaze of yellow flowers is only one character of this reliable landscape shrub. Forsythia is easy to transplant, easy to grow and will tolerate most any soil. Only deep shade or a pruning error will prevent it from flowering. A family of Forsythia varieties now is offered to fit a variety of situations. Dwarfs are grown for ground covers and low accent situations.

Some varieties have different tones of yellow for special needs while others may be delayed in blooming and create a longer season of bloom. All produce arching limbs but the variety is very flexible to create a weeping character well used over walls and steep areas. Dwarf varieties like "Bronx" (Forsythia viridissima) and "Arnold Dwarf" are two feet high sprawling forsythia well adapted for ground covers. Their vining character and rooting of limbs as they touch the ground soon create a dense growth to prevent erosion. Annual or Biannual mowing after bloom may be one way to prune them to maintain attractive plants and more uniform size. The "Arnold Dwarf" does not flower as well as "Bronx."

Ranges of tone give you better use of this plant for special situations. "Spectabilis" is a blazing (Brassy) yellow which may be too bold for some situations. It is heavy blooming and early flowering, comparable to many others. "Lynwood Gold" is a good deep yellow but not quite the flash of "Spectabilis". This variety is heavy blooming and favored by many because of larger flowers and better tone. "Spring Glory" has large pale yellow flowers. This soft color fits many landscape situations. All are heavy blooming, vigorous varieties maturing to six-eight feet plants. Seasonal pruning in late May will insure good form and heavy blooming.

Sequence of flowering occurs when Forsythia ovata (Early Flowering Forsythia) and "Spectabilis" are used. "Early Flowering" will bloom a week or more before Spectabilis and provide an effective stretching of the season. When "Lynwood Gold" or "Spring Glory" is used, the season may extend for three weeks or more.

Pruning Hints

Do not prune maples and birch in the spring. Profuse bleeding is very attractive to insects and fungus diseases. Hold off pruning until early summer for best health and safety of the tree.

Stumps and Stump Grinders

Would you like to get rid of an unsightly stump in your lawn?

Stump grinders can give you instant results. This is a large vertical saw that grinds up the stump. When the job is complete a shallow hole in the ground and a pile of fine chips is all that remains. When the hole is filled, grass can be planted, or sodded to complete the job.

These grinders are not common, but occasional nurserymen and tree companies offer

Pink, Blue Hydrangeas

Pink and blue hydrangeas are the same plant but different soil conditions will change their color.

This hydrangea is the florists' variety with the ability to produce blue flowers in acid soil and pink flowers in alkaline (sweet) soil. Gardeners can change colors by treating their soil to change this soil reaction. Adding lime will change the blue to pink while sulphur and aluminum sulphate will reverse the colors. If you try acidifying your soil use the same formula mentioned for azaleas.

Florists' hydrangeas (Hydrangea macrophylla or Hydrangea hortensis) produces flower buds during early fall. In the spring these plump buds develop shoots to produce the bouquet of pink or blue flowers during July and August. Severe weather or fall pruning eliminates the flowers but the hardy root will survive.

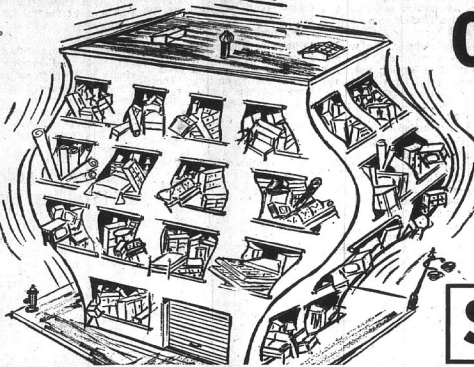

Good winter protection is the key to success. Eastern exposures break the severe winter winds. When west or south exposures occur you can protect the plants by mulching or wrapping. Completely cover the twigs with leaves or boughs and burlap.

Pruning in July will help control size without destroying the flowers. Thin out the stems and prune back the rest. Midsummer pruning will result in 10-15 inches of new growth before fall and lots of flower buds.

Species of hydrangeas with white flowers will not change color when you treat the soil. Several species are grown including dwarfs, like the 3-foot high Snowhill hydrangea, to plants, like the 26-foot high Peegee hydrangea. If you need more color for mid July, a hydrangea will be a good choice.

History of Money

By Pete Brown
of SIU Staff

Noting the disappearance of silver coins and certificates from the American monetary scene, southern Illinois historian-archaeologist Irvin Peithman has done some digging to determine how we got started using money in the first place. These are his conclusions.

During the early settlement of America, before and after the Revolutionary War, money as we now know it was nearly nonexistent.

Southern Illinois' early settlers didn't bring their pocket money with them. The first issue of continental currency came in 1775. But by 1781, largely because of war pressures, the value of this issue had fallen to a cent on the dollar, resulting in the still-popular term, "not worth a continental."

The original settlers of southern Illinois, far removed from the eastern colonies, were strictly on their own. Trade was done in racoon skins, deer hides, tobacco and other frontier products. Certain products became a standard of exchange at Kaskaskia, Brownsville (Jackson county) and other isolated trading posts. At one time, for example, prime male deer skins brought a dollar in cash or trade; that's where we got the slang term, "one buck," for a dollar.

Before the end of the War of 1812, money was virtually unknown on the frontier with the exception of a silver Spanish coin made famous during the age of sea piracy as the "pilar dollar" or "piece of eight." Connecticut, Massachusetts and Virginia adopted laws making the Spanish coin legal tender. England, ignoring the plight of the colonists, had made no effort to provide gold or silver money. The Spanish milled dollar, valued at eight reales, became the chief coin and standard money unit of the Colonial period.

SIU-Carbondale Campus To Boost Room Rates

Room and board increases at Southern Illinois University-Southwestern campus beginning next fall were approved Friday by the SIU board of trustees, meeting at the Southwestern campus. Rising operations costs per student and limited subsidies were cited as the main reasons for the hike.

Room only and rental rates at family apartments and other campus housing areas also will be increased. The board heard that another round of increases may be recommended for the following year in the face of projected labor and food costs jumps.

Room and board rates at the school's Thompson Point residence area and three 17-story undergraduate living units—Brush Towers and Neely Hall—will go from $322 to $327 per quarter, or a total cost of $981 for the regular academic year.

At the University Park Triads, a group of men's residence units, the rate will be hiked from $292 to $312 per quarter. A $30 increase to $322 per quarter was approved at the new Vocational-Technical Institute dormitory, along with a $30 jump at the VTI Southern Acres Residence Halls, now $267.

Room rates at the group housing area, largely fraternities and sororities, will go from $120 to $162, and at the Southern Acres women's co-op apartment from $66 to $72.

Next Sunday at noon, Mathews will end its season against Ackerman.

school temporarily at the Alton Center of SIU-SW. Eventually the school will be located on the Southwestern campus. SIU-SW will use the science building at the Alton Center until a permanent home can be erected on the Southwestern campus. This decision was made, Rendleman said, in order to speed opening of the school, hopefully by September 1970.

Appointment of Dean Sobkowski follows intensive study of a large number of candidates suggested by consulting groups from the American Dental Association's Council on Dental Education and the U. S. Public Health Service. An advisory committee of area dentists has also helped with preliminary planning for the school.

A public hearing on the proposal was held at Edwardsville last May 3, and it was planned to be endorsed by the Madison and St. Clair county dental societies.

Last June 4, the State Board of Higher Education formally approved the subcommittee's report. The State Board of Higher Education has recommended to the General Assembly, now in session, that it appropriate $1.1 million to establish the School of Dentistry at Carbonade.

Treat Family to Nutritious Pork

The rood value or pork gives you good reason to include this meat in the diet. An average serving of cooked pork has more protein, less fat and fewer calories than it did ten years ago. While it is true that hogs used to be a major source of tallow, today's meat-type hog has more lean meat than it did formerly. And the quality and tenderness have improved since most hogs are marketed at a young age.

In addition to providing high-quality proteins, pork contains essential vitamins and minerals. It is one of the chief sources of thiamine and contains substantial amounts of riboflavin, niacin and iron — all necessary to continued good health.

And if you're weight-conscious, you might be interested to know that a 3-ounce serving of lean pork contains about 230 calories.

To be sure of high-quality fresh pork, select meat that has a delicate uniform rose or grayish-pink color and a smooth, velvety texture. The outside fat will be firm and white while the bones will be a reddish color and porous in texture.

And don't overcook pork roasts. They are best when cooked to an internal temperature of 170 degrees F. Instead of 185 degrees as formerly recommended. The practice of overcooking pork stems partly from the fear that underdone pork might be infected with trichinella organisms. Since such organisms are destroyed at a temperature of less than 140 degrees, there is no need to cook pork far beyond that temperature, just to be certain.

Changing the habit of overcooking pork roasts won't be easy. But once you take roast pork properly cooked and juicy tender, you will quit cooking it until it is dried out and stringy.

Buying Cauliflower

When buying cauliflower, choose heads that are compact, firm, and white or creamy white. If jacket leaves are attached, make sure they have a good, green color. Avoid discolored heads and those with soft spots.

Dry Beans With Festive Flair

Dry beans aren't just a mainstay for countless budget-minded homemakers. They also are found in restaurants and homes where good eating is vital and cost does not matter. They are real nuggets of thiamine, iron and calcium. One pound provides seven to nine ½ cup servings. The following recipes can add a festive touch that can help brighten the long winter days ahead.

Ho! Ho! Beans

Combine one one-pound can of beans or 2 cups cooked dried beans with ½ tea spoon mustard, ¼ cup brown sugar, 1 tablespoon dehydrated onion and 1 cup pineapple chunks with juice. Place 1 medium smoked ham hock (about ½ pound) in the center of a ½ quart greased casserole. Pour other ingredients atop. Cover casserole and bake one hour at 350 degrees Fahrenheit. Serves 5-6.

Sassy Tomato Bisque

Stir 1 cup each of milk and cream into 2 cans tomato soup. Heat to boiling point but do not boil. Place ½ cup hot cooked beans in each soup plate. Pour soup over beans. Season with pepper or hot sauce. Serves 6.

Fabric Softeners

Cut Down on "Static" You can take the "cling" out of your winter wardrobe by treating undergarments with fabric softeners.

About the only reliable solution is to try to plan a work schedule that fits you, rather than your neighbor. Forget what Mabel next door wants. Decide what you want. There's no profit in deciding you're going to get through with all housecleaning by 11 a.m. if you just can't do it — if you have to chauffeur the children to and from school, and be a Den Mother on top of it.

Good housecleaning is the first aid to any overworked woman. Easy equipment — such as the right long-handled mops and the right sponges and the right faucet attachments for easy dishwashing — speed up the necessary jobs marvelously. They're worth every cent they cost.

An automatic washer and dryer cut laundry work down considerably. It's been proved by many a veteran housewife that if you do a minimum of housecleaning every day, you have that much less to do on the day when you want to do something else. A floor that's dusted each day isn't going to be any problem on the sixth or seventh day, if something more important comes up.

Scrub the sink and the range top every day, and there won't be a single day when any of these chores becomes difficult. If the clock bothers you, don't set your housecleaning by the clock. Just set it by certain things you want done.

Tailor Your Speed

According to statistics the cause of most traffic accidents is "speed too fast for conditions." A safe driving speed depends on prevailing conditions. For example, when visibility is reduced for any reason, drivers must reduce speed to drive safely. As self-evident as this fact is, many accidents occur because drivers fail to obey this rule.

Farm Column

By WARREN W. BUNDY
Madison County Extension Adviser

Farmers Alert for Corn Borer Damages

"There's little chance that corn borers will not be a problem in field and sweet corn in 1969. Overwintering populations in Illinois equal the high populations of the early 1950's, and growers should be alert to corn borer damage."

These words came from W. H. Luckmann, Head, Economic Entomology, Natural History Survey, University of Illinois. Luckmann outlined to those attending the recent Custom Sprayer Operators' Training School these four steps to reduce corn borer damage: Use tolerant corn hybrids. Avoid unusually early or late planting. Destroy overwintering larvae. Use insecticides and apply them at the proper time.

Luckmann says if insecticide control is needed that farmers use either spray or granule applications of carbaryl, diazinon or parathion.

He stressed the importance of timing the application of insecticides. The index is based on the percentage of larvae hatching from egg masses will survive.

When corn is treated at the time the tassel ratio is between 40 and 60, field corn usually needs only one treatment for first-generation borer control. Close Watch in County In Madison County the corn borer situation will need to be watched closely this spring. Corn borer worm counts last fall were higher in Madison county than in any county in Illinois. And the count in Illinois is the highest it has been for many years.

Weed Specialist E. L. Knake said at the Litchfield area agronomy meeting that farmers have been doing a good job of selecting proper rates of herbicides.

He said recent studies have led to more accurate application rates — based on the organic matter content of soil. Basing rates on soil organic matter content leads to more effective weed control and minimizes residues.

With the development of a handy color chart for estimating organic matter in mineral soils, agronomists have been able to help farmers make determinations on their own farms. Consequently, the agronomists have tailored their suggestions on herbicides and rates to specific organic matter levels.

A copy of the chart—"Color Chart For Estimating Organic Matter in Mineral Soils in Illinois"—is available at the county extension office.

The chart includes five colors keyed to organic matter levels. It includes instructions on how to use it. With the large variation in organic matter content of different soils in Madison county, many farmers will find the color chart very useful.
